

EDITORIAL

Dear Colleagues,

Bezmialem Science (www.bezmialemscience.org), which was first launched in 2013 within the context of mission and vision of Bezmialem University, published 4 issues in March, June, September, and December in its first year.

In order our journal, the media organ of our University that targets to be a leader in science, to be in national and international indexes, supports of all academicians of our University are required.

Publication of scientific research conducted in our country in nationally and internationally indexed journals is mandatory for academic promotion criteria. For this reason, our journal has aimed to be indexed in the Turkish Medical Index in 2015 and necessary applications have been made.

I invite you to contribute to our journal as both an author and a referee with your reviews, original articles, case reports, letters to the editor, and other similar papers for timely and regular publication of our journal.

I would like to emphasize again that Bezmialem Science is an international Open Access (free of charge) electronic journal that publishes articles in all fields of medicine within the principles of independent, unbiased, and double-blind refereeing.

Best Regards

Adem Akçakaya, MD, Prof.
